GREEN further advised that in connection with his employment as an accountant for EDDIE VOGEL he occasionally visits at 4246 North Lincoln Avenue, where VOGEL's enterprises are located and about three times in the last two years he said he has observed ALEX at this location. GREEN said he never did any tax work or any other work for ALEX, but heard that EUGENE BERNSTEIN, a tax attorney, does work for ALEX.

GREEN advised that his accounting work for VOGEL has nothing to do with Apex Amusement Corporation, De Luxe Cigarette Service, Incorporated, or Ajax Phonograph, which are located at 4246 North Lincoln Avenue, Chicago. He advised his accounting service for VOGEL is regarding a pinball machine business run by VOGEL. He advised he also handles personal accounting work for VOGEL in relation to preparing his income tax statements. He advised VOGEL told them if they had any disputes he would handle the situation. GREEN advised he believes business became bad in this operation because of the publicity of persons and taverns being holders of Federal Tax Stamps and thereafter State Illinois Liquor Control Board started to revoke liquor licenses of those taverns having gambling stamps. He advised to his knowledge VOGEL conducts no gambling operations, nor possesses any slot machines. He said, however, it is possible that various vouchers and receipts he receives concerning VOGEL's pinball machine business may possibly refer to slot machines, however, to his knowledge they are only pinball machines. He advised VOGEL has told him that he used to be employed by AL CAPONE and used to, during the 1930s, operate slot machines in the Chicago area. He advised this is the only connection that he knows concerning VOGEL and any so called "Chicago Syndicate". He advised a newspaper reporter visited this party and had written an article in the paper referring to the party as a meeting of the "Chicago Syndicate." He advised VOGEL was very upset over this newspaper article. He advised VOGEL told him that the majority of the people who were at this party were from Jewish Synagogue B'Nai Jehosau (phonetic) Temple, which is located in the area of Ashland and 22nd Street in Chicago. He advised that VOGEL contributes donations to this temple and there is a room at the temple which is named VOGEL's Room.

He advised that VOGEL has a sister named ELSIE WARTENBERG and she is employed at Apex in some unknown capacity. He advised he has seen ELSIE WARTENBERG confer with VOGEL concerning various records at Apex.

He advised that VOGEL has a housekeeper who stays at VOGEL's residence night and day by the name of FREDA. He advised that FREDA has been employed by VOGEL for a number of years and he had no information concerning how FREDA obtained employment with VOGEL.

At the conclusion of the interview GREEN advised he was not sure that he was going to tell VOGEL or EUGENE BERNSTEIN that he had been interviewed by the FBI.

ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES

On April 23, 1962, an article appeared in the "Chicago Daily Tribune" [redacted] The article was captioned, "Syndicate Has Easter Parade". The article related in parts, "The slot machine and jukebox division of the Chicago crime syndicate had its own Easter parade last night. The coin game racketeers followed their slot machine king, EDDIE "DUTCH" VOGEL, 66, of 320 Oakdale Avenue, to a dinner dance in the Mosaic room in the Belden-Stratford Hotel, 23-- Lincoln Park West. The party was arranged by the syndicate's Loop betting boss, GUS "SLIM" ALEX, 48, a longtime chum of VOGEL. The occasion was the 21st wedding anniversary of VOGEL's brother, WILLIAM, who is a partner in the VOGEL cigarette and jukebox distributing firms. The marshal of the gangland dress parade was NATHAN "BUTCH" LADON, 50, of 1550 Lake Shore Drive. LADON is a chauffeur and messenger for ALEX and VOGEL. BUTCH spotted a reporter at the guest book and charged out to proclaim: Get out of here! VOGEL, attracted by BUTCH's shouting, got up from his seat of honor at a center table. He shoved LADON aside and said to a reporter: Don't pay any attention to BUTCH. Then, in one of the few interviews he ever has granted, VOGEL pleaded that his party was just a get-together of the family and a few business friends. Some people call my business a racket, but I prefer to consider it a business, said VOGEL, who once forced terrified tavern keepers into installing his slot machines and pinball games across northern Cook County. I took a racket and put it on a business basis. I never muscled or hurt anybody. I just did favors for people and then they had to do favors for me. That's not muscle. See! VOGEL confided that things are tough now because the justice department and the FBI are cracking down on him. With all the Federal heat, we can't open up the slots as we used to, VOGEL said. The only thing I've got now are jukeboxes and cigarette machines. Uncle Sam has taken me out of the rackets. I just pay my income taxes and hope the government will stay off my back."

On March 28, 1962, [redacted] State's Attorney's Office, Chicago, Illinois, advised ROCCO POTENZO, Chicago hoodlum, is operating several gambling spots in the 6500 block of Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. [redacted] advised his office is conducting investigation in preparation to raid these gambling houses. [redacted] advised he has received information from a confidential source that POTENZO operates these gambling houses for EDWARD VOGEL and is considered VOGEL's lieutenant. [redacted] further advised that he has received information that VOGEL pays SAM GIANCANA a cut of the gambling take from these gambling houses run by ROCCO POTENZO.

On February 5, 1962, CG T-60 advised that EDWARD VOGEL has recently obtained a 58 carat diamond bracelet which is described as a very pretentious bracelet valued at approximately $10,000. He advised that he believes that because of the suspicious nature in which VOGEL handles this diamond bracelet, it is very possible it could have been stolen.

It is to be noted during 1958 information was received that VOGEL was a frequent visitor to NORTON ZIMMERMAN's office, who is the owner of the American Diamond Syndicate Jewelry Wholesaler. Since this information has become public, the State Liquor Control Commission has been suspending all liquor licenses of persons having gambling stamps; suspensions varying from six days to permanent suspensions. The tavern owners, because of this "heat" put on by the State Liquor Control Commission, have been forced to remove the pinball machines from their taverns and [redacted] pinball machine business run by VOGEL.
